The Cost of Crime.
East and West, and Gandhi.
Do You Need Triplets?
Raising Wheat, at Home.

A FEDERAL judge has said that crime in the United States costs annually between eleven thousand and thirteen thousand million dollars. Every year crime costs the country more than the total sum we lent Europe in the war. An expert says racketeering costs Chicago alone one hundred and forty-five millions a year.

"Legitimate" business of many kinds, important branches of union labor, and many other lines of effort are victims and some times or origin of racketeering.

This country needs to clean house in more ways than one.

GANDHI BEGINS the death fast that is to terrify British in some mysterious way, and attain the mahatma's political ends. He refuses to leave prison, unless put out by force.

In America, some of his friends, imitating him, also will fast, but only for 24 hours, to show friendly feeling.

The difference between east and west is illustrated in Gandhi's fast.

The dissatisfied westerner starts a revolution or attacks some individual. The protesting Hindu starves himself.

IF YOU want to make an experiment in child rearing or if you would like three pets better than any three dogs, call on Mrs. Florence Serena, of Vandergrift, Pennsylvania. She offers to give her triplets, two boys and a girl, 21 months old, blue eyes and yellow hair, to anybody that will provide a good home, also a baby boy one month old, if desired.

The mother has three other children and is very poor. That situation might interest the founder of Christianity more than all Wall Street's troubles.

THOMAS D. CAMPBELL, with the approval of this government, showed Russia how to prepare and grow wheat, thirty million acres. At present, working on his own big farm in Montana, he wrote:

"We have just finished harvesting one of the largest crops ever produced in Montana, at the lowest cost of production in the history of our organization, and, owing to the low price of wheat, this crop has been produced at a loss. The average price of wheat, f. o. b. Hardin, Mont., all fall, has been 32 cents a bushel, which included trucking the wheat to the railroad."

It must amuse Russia to see what happens to an American expert raising wheat in his own country. Mr. Campbell says:

"The simple way to solve the agricultural problem is to eliminate the cause, namely, that the farmer has never had the advantage of the tariff on the portion of his commodities sold in the United States. He has always been a buyer in a protected market."

Mr. Campbell has a plan to help the farmer to which the government might pay attention.

Meanwhile, one plan for farmers would be to organize, vote together and stick together as do big industrialists and keep close to the government.

NORMAN THOMAS, who would like to be elected president on the Socialist ticket, points out the interesting fact that 60 small towns in the United States are entirely free from local taxation because

OHIO'S PART IN CAMPAIGN IS DISCUSSED

No Definite Itinerary For President Hoover.

By The Associated Press.
COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 22. — The part Ohio will play in the Republican national campaign was up for consideration at conferences here today between Postmaster General Walter F. Brown and state party chiefs.

Brown, national committeeman from Ohio, arrived last night and announced he would discuss with state leaders the itineraries of national campaign speakers and other phases of the campaign in this section.

As to the possibility that President Hoover might appear in Ohio, Brown said "so far as I know no definite itinerary has been arranged for the President, except for his speech in Des Moines on Oct. 4."

PLAN "PROTEST" PARADE

Iowans Are Asked to Assemble For Hoover's Address.

By The Associated Press.
DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 22.—Milo Reno, national president of the Farmers' Holiday association which is conducting a "strike" for higher prices, has asked Iowa farmers to assemble here for a "protest" parade October 4, when President Hoover is scheduled to deliver a campaign address. He said he hoped 20,000 farmers would take part.

"We have a right to hold President Hoover responsible for existing conditions," Reno told members of the Iowa Farmers' union last night.

"It is time," he said, "that we educate those responsible for this condition of agriculture. We have a right to portray the real conditions that exist in this country."

Meanwhile Senator Smith W. Brookhart was delivering an attack on the administration, Wall street, and the banking system at a farm gathering at Merville, Ia., attended by agriculturists from northwest Iowa, and nearby communities in Minnesota and South Dakota.

The senator declared for a federal purchase of surplus farm products. He said congress should appropriate five million dollars for handling the holding of a special session of congress to deal with the farm problem.

WHITE SPEAKS IN TROY.

Governor Reviews Results of Two Years' Administration.

By The Associated Press.
TROY, O., Sept. 22. — The outstanding issue of the Ohio campaign, Governor George White declared in an address prepared for delivery at a Democratic rally here today, is whether the people desire to continue in office an administration "sound and economical" or an "untested crew, with steering orders coming from political bosses in Cleveland and Toledo."

The governor reviewed the results of his administration during the last two years and called attention to the reductions in appropriations, and other economy moves fostered by himself.

TWO MEN SHOT IN RUM RAID

By The Associated Press.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 22.—A shower of buckshot fired from ambush seriously wounded E. A. Larkin, deputy prohibition administrator, and Paul Sullivan, a special officer from Detroit, Mich., as they raided a liquor distillery near here today. The officers wounded a Negro. Their assailant fled.

CAPT. WRIGHT HEADS G. A. R.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 22. — Capt. William P. Wright, 83, of Chicago today unanimously was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, succeeding Samuel P. Town of Philadelphia.

EXTINGUISH BRUSH FIRE.

Firemen from the Central station were called to extinguish a brush fire along Pennsylvania avenue today at 11:49 a. m. There was no damage.

Mrs. Hoover Turns Seam For Red Cross

By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. — Even on a balky sewing machine, Mrs. Hoover can turn a fine seam for the Red Cross.

She visited the work rooms yesterday where 30 whirling machines each operated by a volunteer woman worker, were turning cloth that came from federally-owned cotton into pretty print dresses for needy little girls, and substantial shirts for needy little boys.

The machines were all donated for such use, and some of them were rather ancient models. Upon one of these Mrs. Hoover chanced when she sat down to "try her hand" at the work.

"Does any one know how to drop the foot of this machine?" she first queried.

All the workers tried to help, but none offered the key to the puzzle before she herself found the gadget that dropped the foot.

THOMAS ALONE IN CAMPAIGN

Socialist Starts His Swing Through 17 States.

By The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 22. — A man alone today, into the west, seeking the presidency of the United States.

He will campaign in 17 states. There will be speeches by day and speeches by night, and he will snatch his rest in sleeping cars, as he rolls into the northwest, to California and to Texas.

Norman Thomas, a Socialist candidate for president for the second time in four years, made no sanguine claims of victory as he left New York last night. He said: "I've always got a chance if enough people vote. But even if I'm defeated, an organized Socialist movement with a big vote may stop present destructive trends."

He expressed doubt that even should he be elected he would be able to do a great deal toward immediate relief for the conditions he decries without a majority of his party in the senate.

If President Hoover or Governor Roosevelt is elected, he said, it would mean "national calamity."

His is the most ambitious speaking program of any candidate for it calls for day-by-day and often two-day speechmaking. And he travels alone. Somewhere en route, Mrs. Thomas detained in New York by personal affairs, may join him. Perhaps there will be a publicity man to aid him part of the time.

But mostly he expects to carry on the campaign unaided. Funds are skimpy—less than $50,000 is being spent on the entire campaign, he said. There can be no extravaganzas. He hopes only to speak to as many persons as circumstances permit, and "spread the gospel of maintenance for every family in the country."

GAS IS STOLEN FROM TANK CAR

Burglars Pry Lid from Gasoline Car At Midway Oil Company's River Road Station.

Burglars pried open the top of a 10,000-gallon gasoline tank car on a siding at the bulk station of the Midway Oil company in the River road Wednesday night and escaped with an undetermined amount of fuel, Manager George T. Farrell reported to police today.

The burglars are believed to have stolen tools from the Midway station to enter the opening on the top of the car, which is 4 inches wide.

The hole at the top of the car was left uncovered despite the fact that the tank was in close proximity to passing trains. A spark from one of the passing engines lighting in the tank would have resulted in an explosion, Farrell said.

M'ADOO JOINS NOMINEE IN CALIFORNIA

Views on Regulation Of Utilities Are Outlined.

By WALTER T. BROWN.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
ROOSEVELT SPECIAL, ENROUTE TO SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—After writing into the records his views on the regulation and control of public utilities dealing in electricity, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt today was in California, whose swing from John N. Garner assured Mr. Roosevelt's nomination at the Chicago Democratic convention.

William Gibbs McAdoo, who announced the swing during the fourth roll call last July, had flown to Redding to meet the nominee and escort him through the state. McAdoo is the choice of California Democrat for the United States senate.

Mr. Roosevelt, in his Portland Oregon address last night, the third of the four major utterances he will make on his 21-day tour of the west, outlined his views on government ownership and public utility regulation.

Assails Hoover.

"Since 1928 my distinguished opponent has done nothing to enforce the regulatory sections of the federal water power act," he said.

"He has done nothing to block the financial operations incident to the great post-war development, as planned by its promoters."

"My distinguished opponent is against giving the federal government in any case, the right to operate their own power business."

In his peroration, which the crowd frequently interrupted with cheering, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"To the people of this country, I have but one answer on this subject: 'The natural hydro-electric power resources belonging to the people of the United States or the several states shall remain forever in their possession.'"

Eight-Point Program.

Of his "remedies for the regulation and control of public utilities engaged in the power business and companies and corporations relating thereto," Mr. Roosevelt declared:

1—Full publicity as to all capital.

An appeal for $1,000 in cash contributions to purchase shoes for needy school children will be made in East Liverpool churches Sunday by the Women's Welfare Association, Mrs. R. T. Hall, chairman, announced today.

BOY DIES, 3 OF KIN ILL

Strange Malady Claims Life of Canton Youth.

By The Associated Press.
CANTON, O., Sept. 22. — A strange malady today claimed the life of 11-year-old William M. Johns. His two sisters and a brother are in a critical condition.

William died this morning and after an autopsy and examination of his vital organs, six physicians and Coroner T. C. McQuate declared nothing was discovered to reveal the cause of death. Further examinations will be conducted today.

The boy was stricken several days ago. His temperature mounted to 105 degrees and he became unconscious. A short time later the other members of his family became ill and developed high temperatures. They too lost consciousness.

All except William recovered consciousness early today, but remained in a critical state.

Examination of the fluid in the boy's spinal column indicated, Coroner McQuate said, that the child was not a victim of infantile paralysis.

FACING GAMBLING CHARGE

Ira Reibel, 50, of Mulberry street, East End, was arrested Wednesday afternoon by Patrolman George Curran on a charge of permitting gambling in his pool and billiard room in Mulberry street. He was released on his own recognizance, pending a hearing before Judge Harry Brokaw Friday morning.

"Don't Advise"

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Sept. 22.—Well, we are off again to our old trait. We are not supposed to meddle in foreign affairs, so we don't tell Germany she "can't arm," we advise her not to.

Now there is nothing that makes a nation, or an individual, as mad as to have somebody say, "now this is really none of my business, but I am just advising you."

They never will get anywhere with this disarmament, for no nation can tell another nation what they need to defend themselves. That's a personal affair. If I sleep with a gun under my pillow I don't want somebody across the street to "advise" me that I don't need it.

Yours,
Will Rogers

PHIL LAFOLLETTE AND HIS CONQUEROR

After one of the heaviest votes ever cast in the state primaries, Governor Philip LaFollette (left), of Wisconsin, champion of the progressive faction, went down to defeat before former Governor Walter J. Kohler, conservative, for the Republican nomination for governor. Observers say that Kohler's victory is significant inasmuch as it is an indication that the LaFollette dynasty, which has governed Wisconsin over a period of a quarter of a century, has fallen from power.

Gandhi, Weakening After Two Days of Fast, Faces Crisis

Hindu Emergency Committee Seeks Compromise Over Problem of Electoral Rights of Depressed.

By The Associated Press.
POONA, India, Sept. 22. — Mahatma Gandhi, already weakening after the first two days of his "death fast," faced the crisis of his struggle with the British government today.

"It's today or never!" said G. D. Birla of the Hindu emergency committee which has been trying to bring about a compromise over the problem of the electoral rights of the depressed classes, the cause for which the mahatma entered upon his starvation fast Tuesday.

In the "condemned" cell of Yeroda jail, the spare and emaciated leader of India's millions continued to squat crosslegged on a webbed cot, but his voice was growing weaker when the last of his calls left him last night.

The committee was putting forth every effort today to bring about a compromise agreement which would satisfy Gandhi. The members were spurred by the belief that whatever is done must be done quickly if the mahatma's life is to be saved.

Whatever agreement is reached must be submitted to Prime Minister MacDonald for the approval of the government. Gandhi's friends fear that in his present condition he will not last long if his fast is continued.

Dr. Bhimaro Ramjo Ambekar, leader of the 60,000,000 untouchables, planned to visit the mahatma again today following another meeting of the emergency committee.

129 SEEK TO HAUL MAILS

Bids for Trucking Job at Local Postoffice Sent to Washington By Postmaster.

Postmaster John T. Wood announced today that 129 persons had submitted bids for the contract to haul the mail between the East End and downtown offices, Chester and the Diamond station of the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company.

The bids were sent to Washington last week where they will be opened. The postmaster said he expected to hear the latter part of this week on the result of the proposals.

It is hoped to have the contract awarded in time for the successful bidder to start his work by October 1. Edwin Goodwin, who was awarded the contract on Aug. 1, is holding the job until his successor is named.

SCHOOLS AWARD COAL CONTRACT

East Palestine Board of Education Accepts Bid of Joseph Samsenbaugher for Winter's Fuel.

EAST PALESTINE, Sept. 22. — The contract for furnishing coal during the winter to the school buildings here was awarded Joseph Samsenbaugher of East Main street by the board of education Tuesday night. His proposals were $2.35 a ton for screen coal; $1.80 for run-of-mine, and $1.20 for slack.

There were 17 other bidders for the contract.

The matter of satisfactorily placing first grade students was referred to Superintendent C. E. Palmer by the board. It is desired to transfer some of the students living north of the railroad tracks to the Captain Taggart building, where there are two teachers or place some of the pupils living on Taggart street in the East North avenue building.

CHLORINE USE IS VOTED IN RIVER SUPPLY

State Health Board Engineer Warns Against Well.

AVERT FAMINE

Water Will be Pumped Directly into City Mains.

With only a 15-day supply in the Yellow Creek storage dam as a result of the summer drouth, Wellsville officials today conferred with Thomas R. Lathrop of Columbus, assistant engineer of the state board of health, regarding plans to avert a water famine.

Acting upon the recommendation of the state aid, Wellsville health board members and other city officials announced that chlorine will be used in water which will be pumped from the Ohio river into the mains. At the same time, Lathrop warned the water should be boiled for domestic use.

Lathrop told Wellsville officials that the state health board would oppose the re-opening of the Sixth street well which was ordered by council Tuesday night. The Wellsville board closed the well upon suggestion of the state board, on account of its proximity to a sanitary sewer, warning that it was dangerous to use the water.

Service-Safety D. D. Duty said that work on a pipe line from the river would be started as soon as the equipment arrives. A centrifugal pump and motor to operate it will be placed at Second street and Broadway, Duty said.

Platform Appearances in Oregon.
"I do not hold with those who advocate complete and indiscriminate government ownership or government operation of all utilities," the Democratic nominee declared.

"I state to you categorically that as a broad general rule the development of most of our utilities should remain with certain exceptions, a function for private initiative and private capital."

When Roosevelt asserted "I have spoken of a 'new deal' for the American people," the crowd roared. He added: "I believe that the 'new deal' can be applied to the relationship between electric utilities on one side and the consumer and the investor on the other. True regulation is for the equal benefit of the consumers and the investor."

Mr. Roosevelt said the next great hydro-electric development to be undertaken "by the federal government must be on the Columbia river."

After he left Portland, where he also addressed a farm gathering at Gresham, near the city, Mr. Roosevelt made platform appearances at several points in Oregon.

Mrs. Lawrence Hart pleasantly entertained members of the Queen Esther circle of the Methodist Episcopal church Monday night in her East Clark street home. The meeting was opened by devotionals conducted by Miss Jane Hall.
"Modernism Pertaining to Christianity" was the subject for study. Miss Mary Belle Kissinger read an interesting paper entitled "Modernism in Missionary Work."

After an informal social hour was enjoyed a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Hart aided by the associate hostess Miss Dorothy Blair.

Mrs. Stewart Orndorf will entertain the members in one month. Members of the D. M. C. club gathered in the West Main street home of Mrs. Lucy Dilworth Monday night for their regular meeting. —Adv.

Needlework and social conversation were pleasing evening diversions until a late hour when the hostess served a delicious lunch. Mrs. Jesse Wilhelm will be club hostess in two weeks.
Mrs. Cecil Kirtley has returned to her home in Warren after spending a week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cannel. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Galster and children were recent callers in Cong. W. Va.
Miss Edna Switzer is a guest of her parents on South Walnut street. Miss Switzer is employed in the office of the Ohio Match company at Wadsworth, O.

MIDLAND ROAD UNDER REPAIR

State Highway Employees Begin Work on Rough Stretches Near Smiths Ferry.

Pennsylvania state highway department employees are repairing two rough stretches of the East Liverpool-Midland highway near Smiths Ferry. These are the same sections on which the state department worked recently, removing "humps" from the road.
The temporary gravel pavement laid at that time has become rough, and the workmen are patching up the holes.

MIDLAND GOLF MATCH LISTED

Proceeds Will go to Milk Fund for Pupils.

Approximately 200 men and women are expected to take part in the handicap golf tournament on the Midland club course Saturday and Sunday, the proceeds of which are to go to the Fellowship club to use in furnishing milk to undernourished Steel City school children.

Fifty cents is being charged each participant in the tournament, with prizes being awarded the low scorers each day. It is planned to have as many women as possible play on Saturday, leaving the course open on Sunday for the men desiring to enter the tournament.

President Robert Lloyd of the Fellowship club said that the $100 which is expected to be received from the tournament, together with individual donations will enable the organization to continue its free distribution of milk throughout practically the remainder of the term.

About 35 gallons of milk has been given out daily at the four Midland school buildings, since the distribution started Monday. The daily distribution will probably reach 50 gallons by next week, Lloyd said.

they own their own public utilities, gas, power, electricity, etc.

One big town that can testify to the value of public ownership is Jacksonville, Fla. John H. Perry's Jacksonville Journal reports that citizens for 1933 will pay a tax levy, 11 mills, the lowest tax in 40 years. The 1932 tax rate is cut in two, thanks largely to earnings of the publicly-owned electric light and power plant.

A PHILOSOPHICAL British lady, Mrs. Pawley, is kidnapped by Chinese bandits. She writes: "Please send me a powder puff, face cream and a lipstick. I don't want anything else but a bath."

She asks that police be kept away because if they follow the bandits she may be killed.
"Please don't bust yourselves."

There is a marvelous placidity in certain British women, and great courage.

THE BRITISH, always practical, have quieted the dangerous riots at Birkenhead, not by shooting a lot of men and making the riots worse, but by raising the amount of the dole for the idle.

The dole may have all the vice that respectable American attribute to it, but it seems to have helped the British through a bad period.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS says: "Senator Reed of Pennsylvania and Ambassador Edge inform French authorities that the American people believe Germany's recent move for armament equality was inopportune."

The American people believe nothing of the kind. They believe that what Germany does is Germany's business and the same of all other European nations. What Americans ask is to be kept out of foreign fights and planning.

Approximately 150 persons at the first annual banquet of the East End softball league Wednesday night in the Odd Fellows temple, Mulberry street, heard the popular summer sport lauded as "a fine aid to the people in these times of depression."

All the players on the league's eight teams were guests of the circuit's officials at the banquet. In addition, the team managers, umpiring staff and several citizens interested in the league were present.

Attorney Blaine H. Cochran rendered three vocal selections, while the B. & W. Buccaneers entertained during the dinner with musical offerings.

Attorney Cochran also presented the trophy to John Pelor, manager of the championship Carnahan Drug team.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't take for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Wife Was Fat No Longer Attractive Lost Husband's Love

The above headlines appeared in a New York newspaper of April 4 in connection with a divorce trial that has attracted wide attention.

"She was a beautiful woman," one witness testified, "but she got fat and is not attractive any more."

Thousands of women are getting fat and losing their appeal just because they do not know what to do. If you are fat how would you like to lose it and at the same time gain in physical charm and acquire a clean, clear skin and eyes that sparkle with buoyant health?

And gain in energy and activity? Why not do what thousands of women have done to get rid of pounds of unwanted fat? Take one half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast and keep it up for 30 days. You can help the action of Kruschen by cutting down on pastry and fatty meats and going light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar. Then weigh yourself and see how many pounds you have lost.

Kruschen Salts are a blend of 6 mineral salts most helpful to body health. Best of all, a bottle of Kruschen Salts that will last you for 4 weeks costs but a trifle. Ask any druggist for a bottle and start to lose fat today.

It's the safe way to reduce but be sure you get Kruschen—your health comes first and remember this if you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back—Adv.

Appeal for Shoes For Children

The Women's Welfare association, which expended about $8,000 in contributions last year for clothing and shoes for children and baskets of food for needy families without one cent of expense for administration, today appealed for $1,000 to provide footwear for school pupils.

Believing the required funds can be obtained without a general canvass, contributions will be sought at church and Sunday school services here next Sunday, when association aids will appeal for co-operation.

In addition, contributions will be accepted at the Potters' Bank and Trust company by Cashier Frank M. Gardner who has been named treasurer of the welfare fund.

With the approach of cold weather, funds are needed at once to provide shoes for scores of children who are now enrolled in the city's schools and others who are unable to attend because of lack of footwear. The Women's Welfare association should have the wholehearted support of the public in this humanitarian movement.

Contribute to the school children's shoe fund.

On the Sidelines.

President Hoover has given reassurance, to those who need it, of this nation's firm intention to stay clear of European arguments on disarmament. The state department will not bother itself with the current disturbance caused by Germany's threat to re-arm in defiance of the nations which have broken their affirmations of good faith, as stated in the arms limitation clause of the Versailles treaty.

The American people may believe anything they want to believe about European policies on disarmament, but their government, free to act independent only because it is not in the League of Nations and is not a supporter of the Treaty of Versailles, officially is interested in only one thing—progressive disarmament. Its contacts with Europe, consequently, are not so much in the nature of contracts with the individual nations of Europe as with Europe as a whole.

It is reported that certain prominent Americans have given out word abroad that their countrymen believe Germany's move for armament equality was inopportune. Their accuracy as spokesmen is highly questionable. Undoubtedly, there are some Americans who believe as they have said, but there are as many more who believe Germany has chosen the only way left open to show its neighbors that it will not continue to abide by the Treaty of Versailles until they have shown some intention of fulfilling their part of the contract concerning German disarmament.

Pleading has done no good. Expression of opinion has done no good. A decade of waiting has brought nothing but disappointment. Threats are justified under the circumstances. The United States leans more toward sympathy in its attitude than it does toward censure. Officially, however, it has no attitude but that of impartial observer—an observer hoping that nothing will happen to make progress toward actual disarmament more difficult. President Hoover's brief, concise statement was needed.

Ready for the Last Act.

As entertainment, the professional baseball season just ending has been an unqualified success. As a profitable enterprise, it may not come off favorably in comparison with other seasons. That is something for owners and stockholders to worry about.

The champions of the two major leagues, the New York Yankees and the Chicago Cubs, promise a great closing act with the first game of the World series only a few days away. Already, one fan is reported to be waiting in line for the opening game in New York.

Spectators, however will stand in a proportion of about one to 500 Americans intensely interested in every day play of the national game's seasonal climax. The millions who will follow the games by radio and telegraph and who will study them over in newspapers after the last out has been made are far more important, numerically, than the few thousands who can be accommodated in the playing parks.

It is significant that this year's American league champions are a team which has made a mighty contribution to the upbuilding of baseball. The owner of the Yankees, Colonel Ruppert, has gained more than profit from his enterprise; he has helped to cover up the stain of scandal on professional baseball by giving it the attraction of color. It may be, as some say, that the day of the Yankees' superiority is passing. Be that as it may, they have been a symbol of an honest and straightforward conception of professional baseball's place in the nation's list of amusements.

The game today is established on a basis which outlaws shady practices because they are bad business. Efficient and unashamed commercialization has won public confidence. Baseball is supported because it gives the customer his money's worth. May the world series represent a bargain for all parties concerned—spectators, players, investors and everyone else entitled to a share. The nation can stand a good stiff dose of entertainment.

Contagious Ideas.

Active sectors in the farm strike are appearing almost as rapidly as groups of bonus marchers were coming into existence a few months ago. Questionable ideas are as contagious as sound ideas—more contagious when they circulate among dissatisfied and unhappy people.

The record of the farm strike has been full of acts of violence and distressingly free from instance of success so far. Because the strike has not been general enough to affect more than a small section of population at any one time, however, it has not been taken seriously.

There is a possibility, nevertheless that it may continue to spread until it has become a distinct menace to life. Farmers themselves can control that possibility. If they believe there is anything to be gained by the violent method offered for their approval, there is no power great enough to stop them.

Consumers are not resentful of any reasonable action agricultural producers may take to better their condition, as long as it gives promise of getting results. But there is nothing in the operation of the farm strike to indicate that it will produce results.

On the other hand, it promises to be the cause of a great deal of inconvenience and some actual suffering because of disturbed marketing conditions. Urban dwellers cannot bring themselves to believe that farmers will be serving their own cause well by continuing it.

Dark Forecast.

A general sales tax, predicts Senator Fess, may yet be forced on congress. Adoption, he forecasts glumly, will likely mean the political death of every congressman who votes for it.

The people are interested—almost startled—by this unfamiliar conception of the way politicians lay down their lives. If quoted accurately, Ohio's senior senator has said that congressmen may be obliged to vote for a measure so universally unpopular that they never could be elected again.

What is this force stronger than self-preservation, which will give a general sales tax to the United States? Is it necessity to balance the budget? Does Senator Fess mean that the principle of general sales taxation is so unpopular that it never can be applied to his nation's fiscal problem?

If he does, he has been looking at the long shadow of the bogey. He has been listening to the loud cries of demagogues. He has been giving too much attention to the arguments of those who have taken up the cudgel in defense before asking why.

Opposition to a general sales tax is strong. In the recent session of congress it was strong enough to force congressmen to stay at a safe distance. But time alters all things. When Senator Fess predicts defeat of every congressman who may be "forced" to vote for a general sales tax he overlooks the fact that if such "force" were exerted the opposition would be weakened by that fact. General sales taxation, then, no longer would be an alternative, but a necessity.

Perhaps such a condition of affairs may never prevail in the senator's time. The United States may be able to bungle through this difficult period with no such sweeping alteration of its revenue machinery. Most congressmen probably will never sacrifice their political careers to their nation's welfare. In addition to the fact that it isn't customary, it may not be necessary.

Other Editorial Opinions

ANNUAL MEDICAL BILL.

According to C. C. Concanon, chief of the medical division, department of commerce, in an address at Atlantic City recently, America's annual bill for medicines now approximates $715,000,000. This represents an average of $6 a person.

Mr. Concanon attributes the tremendous increase to the scientific advances in the treatment of diseases and has led to a lower death rate due to higher standards of living. People are growing more careful of their health. Widespread publicity by responsible organizations has helped to encourage the policy of periodical health examinations by competent physicians.

Mr. Concanon points out that not only are Americans using more medicine but there is an increased demand from abroad indicating the confidence in American medical preparations held by those of foreign countries. At the beginning of this century our exports in medicines totaled $2,000,000 but have now reached $7,500,000.

Popular hygiene education has resulted in fewer persons having apparently simple ailments untreated. Cuts and abrasions are now promptly cared for. The production of druggists' preparations and patent and proprietary medicines has increased $70,000,000 in the last 10 years in this country.

Strict laws governing the preparation and sale of patent medicines have undoubtedly given the public greater confidence in these preparations. Most of the earlier abuses and frauds have been eliminated. Patent medicine manufacturers no longer guarantee cures on the bottles. Their ingredients conform with the strictest interpretation of the pure food and drug act—Toledo Times.

CRAMPED HOUSES.

Gene are the good old days—at least in the cities, where space is at a premium—when the American home had both a parlor and a "sittingroom," perhaps even a front parlor, a back parlor and a sitting room. The single living room is the rule today.

And this architectural development is playing its part in the disruption of family life of which we hear so much nowadays, authorities tell us.

The President's Conference on Home Building and Home Ownership found in a survey that much needed improvement of home and family life in present day America is due to faulty house plans.

Why blame daughter for having her dates in an automobile at a picture show or dance hall when her home provides no private place to entertain her boyfriend, unless others of the family are driven to the kitchen or their bedrooms?

Where can Junior set up his electric train, in a house without a spare room or an attic, and not have to tear it up immediately? Or what spot can he utilize as a workshop or a photographic darkroom?

How adjust the use of the radio to everybody's convenience when one member of the family wishes to hear a sports broadcast or a political speech or a jazz orchestra that is merely an annoyance to others?

Our houses are too cramped for pleasant home life. As the President's conference summed up the situation: "Only a single living room for recreational activities of too many people—children, parents and grandparents; no private place to read, rest, or play, or entertain personal friends."

More room might be more effective than scolding to keep the children at home—Columbus Citizen.

A STRAW VOTE IN 1839.

By J. H. Galbraith.

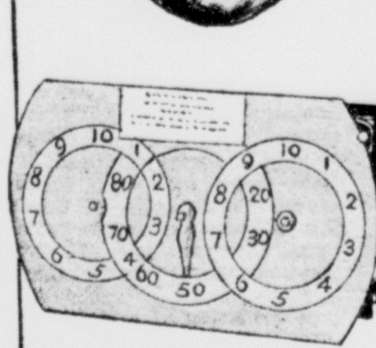

For The Associated Press.

If anyone supposes that the straw vote method of ascertaining political sentiment in advance of an election is a strictly modern invention, he may have his mind disabused of the notion by perusal of an item in an old Ohio newspaper published not long before the election of General William Henry Harrison as president.

The story tells of how guests at taverns were requested to write opposite their name on the register the persons he would prefer for president and that nine out of every ten were for Harrison with a few for Van Buren and Clay.

A short time after that the Whigs held their state convention in Columbus and while resolutions were adopted praising Webster and Clay to the skies when it came time to nominate a president the convention was almost unanimous for Harrison. Both the convention and the election later bore out the accuracy of straw votes, even in those early times.

At Sea Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE.

AT SEA, Sept. 22.—The ship afloat along in a vastness of twinkling brilliance. Breakfasting betimes, I pilfered a red rose from the table, bedecked my lapel and began a circle of the deck, jauntily. But my buoyancy was short lived as a wave's break. A smartie, passing, cried: "Ah Young Man of Manhattan!"

Catastrophes are born of inconsequentialities. Two ship acquaintances are berth-bound today. One was in high spirits until, on a clean sweep of scrubbed deck, he saw a dottle of tobacco on an emptied pipe. The other, at dinner, was served that atrocious delicacy, cock's combs in jelly.

Both, untrussed, lay in wan languor, eyes bright but curiously empty. I exhausted my sick-bed supply of jocosity but it seemed only to annoy. So I left them to their grouches—and perhaps tastes—of dark bridle. Incidentally, a school teacher on board keeps her mind off mal de mer by conjugating "to live."

Harry Silvee seems to have abandoned vagrant amours of a six-day crossing and has consecrated his life to acquiring a Nubian coot on the sun deck. With his snow crown, he already suggests a white turbaned Moroccan potentate. I shall introduce him in Paris as Agha Sil Vey.

I've fallen in love with a 14-month-old innocent, with questioning brown eyes and hair of sparkling golden. Her nurse in our corridor is teaching her to walk in leather harness. She wobbles into grinning squats. My wife said, it recalled someone's long ago Saturday night walk. But didn't say whose!

Kenneth C. Collins, likely the most highly paid advertising man in the world, is a passenger. We have mutual friends but never met until a tea roundup in Jean Tiller's suite—and is it palazzo?—today. Collins is youngish, alert and shining with sophistication. He is one of those astonishing successes America so frequently spawns.

Broke, jobless and pretty much a failure, he was selected by the head of a department store for an executive post. Like many others, given The Big Chance, he proved a whirlwind. And his hat fits him still.

An ocean trip gives a man and wife a chance to talk things over in a way so often difficult in New York's violent jangle. It is surprising how many sentimentalities the hurly-burly crowds out. A stern tonight in the fuscous twilight, we watched the huge ship cutting its path of choppy phosphorescence. Gripped by so lovely a vision, after a long silence, I ventured: "We've been unusually lucky and rather happy, don't you think?" She touched my hand ever so lightly. It somehow conveyed enormous meaning. After all, is there anything in the wide world so startlingly eloquent as silence.

In the clutch of this softening mood, I wandered back into the ship's lounge but there was something jarring about its rather forced gaiety, and I found myself returning to the solace of the claret blue evening. And I sat there until the sun sank in its flame of crimson. One gets that way on an ocean voyage. You know, mushy.

Pinkcheeked Dudley Field Malone is nowhere on the ship. In some 20 crossings I never miss him one way or the other. I'll likely pick him up, along with Gilbert Miller and the usual quota of Vanderbilts, returning.

Only one passenger is going in for free-hand Spencerian drinking. He is reputedly a rubber plantation owner—broad shoulders, a suspicious eyed, glum. His tippie is brandy in wide flanged glasses and from early until late he sits at a remote table, rolling, inhaling and sipping, talking to no one. Last evening, he was called by a courier on some mission. Returning, he stood swaying in the doorway until a quick laugh sent him bobbing to his corner. "Our big rubber man is bouncing," observed Mrs. Reginald Wright Kaufman, who up to that time had said very little.

Two blades in berets, breezing into the bar for aperitifs, sprung a pair of new ones—at least to me. One ordered a Blue Blazer and the other a Thunderclap. They sound hot-cha.

For a trifling purchase in the ship shop I tendered a half dollar. The cashier, shaking his head, said: "I can't take that sir." I suggested acridly he might then give it to the company. A man, standing by, said he was an American banker and would like to examine the coin. I snatched it quicker than that and ran like everything.

How To Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND.

BEFORE school begins, or soon after, the children should be inspected. This is the time to take your youngsters to the doctor for physical examination. All physical defects such as enlarged tonsils, impaired eyesight or hearing, or dental decay, should be given attention, and there should be vaccination against smallpox and inoculations against diphtheria and other infectious diseases.

During the winter months a child may be stricken with a severe attack of tonsillitis. Immediate operation is never advised because of the infection, high fever and the lowered health of the child. The mother is cautioned about the child's health and advised to have the tonsils and adenoids removed at an appropriate time. Perhaps you attended to this during the summer. If you did, the operation did not necessitate any loss of time from school.

Six Frequent Ailments

Unfortunately, many mothers follow advice during the acute illness, but forget about the operation. The child returns to school in the Fall and is exposed to infections and colds. He repeats his sad experience of the previous winter and, in addition to losing time from school, injures his general health. In a recent survey on the health of the school child, made by the United States Public Health Service, six conditions were most frequently found as the cause of sickness. They were decayed teeth, defective vision, diseased tonsils, enlarged glands, ear trouble and enlarged thyroid glands. There is no doubt that most of the time lost from school because of these ailments could have been prevented. These physical defects would have been discovered if the children had been examined by a doctor during the vacation.

But there is no use crying over spilled milk. If it wasn't done then, it can be done now. A great deal has been written about the value and necessity of periodic health examinations for adults, but too little emphasis has been placed upon the importance of periodic health examinations for children. Unlike adults, children cannot interpret pain. Often they do not tell their parents when they have pain, and it requires a careful examination to determine their condition.

Consult Your Physician.

Many constitutional defects are overlooked and neglected because of thoughtfulness or carelessness. Consult with your physician and have him correct all physical defects. Your child will make better progress in school if he is in good health.

I know how busy the average mother is. She has a multitude of things to look after, particularly in this time of limited income and general distress. I am not saying this today to add to her misery. Far from it! My thought is to remind her that, with all her worries, she mustn't forget the vital necessity of having the children inspected now and then.

Gossip and Loyalty.

Often women complain about the manner in which men shield and protect the good names of their fellows.

They try to create the impression that they don't like the sort of loyalty displayed by men.

But if the truth were known they admire men for this very trait. It is seldom that men berate the one who is not present in a group. Often they will speak out plainly in his presence in regard to things about him which they dislike.

But does the average woman follow this course?

Too often it is quite the other way.

It is the absent one who is criticized. If women followed the men's plan of loyalty to sex even among their own sex much of the evil gossip set in circulation would never come to light.

If women sought to present excuses rather than to magnify the indiscretions of other women, there would be much less backbiting.

If instead of a whispering campaign of a suggestive nature women would fearlessly demand proof for every mean story told them about another before they communicated the story to another, harmful gossip would end.

RADIO AND VISITORS.

Don't make your radio a nuisance to your guests.

To have it operating incessantly in the home is annoying.

In each home certain programs are popular and others are boring, according to the taste of the listeners.

What pleasures you may be displeasing to visitors.

This is especially true when the machine is operated in a loud way. Radios are no longer a novelty; therefore guests should not be treated to that form of entertainment unless they bring in something the guests enjoy.

Attempts to display what your radio will do is like having your youngsters perform for those who call on you.

You may think your children are cunning and pleasing but your visitor may not be so impressed in their favor.

Most parents compare the winning qualities of their children with those of other parents with favor on their own side.

With radios the same sort of favoritism is to be found for "ours." If your machine is so superior it is not kind to emphasize it.

If you run it, tune it low when guests are present.

They will thank you and get more pleasure from their visit.

The Reviewing Stand

By TOM T. JONES.

A PITCHER, burned in the first kiln of ware ever fired in East Liverpool, is in the possession of Mrs. Cynthia Bradshaw, and is as good as new. It was made by Bennett and company the originators of potters in this place about 36 years ago. The pottery stood about 160 yards out in the river from the foot of Second street, all traces of which are now gone.

The above was a news-item in the issue of Friday, Jan. 15, 1875, of the East Liverpool Democrat which was published by Enoch Bradshaw and authenticates absolutely the fact of the preservation of this initial bit of ware turned out in the community destined in subsequent years to be the "Pottery Center of the World."

From last accounts, this same piece of pottery is yet preserved in Chicago. This paper containing pertinent information regarding the first pottery turned out in East Liverpool was a possession of the late Gustav Pepin, the 25th mayor of East Liverpool, who, following the regimes of other town executives had been returned to the same office at the time this issue of the paper was given out.

This and other early papers published in East Liverpool were recently discovered in some old furniture belonging to this former chief executive of the city and its first jeweler. All these years they were among the effects of certain of his descendants in this city. There were others also found with the ones preserved but they were destroyed.

East Liverpool had been incorporated as a village in 1824, when the first pottery was erected and operated in East Liverpool in 1839 John C. Young was the mayor of the village. Sanford C. Hill was then village recorder.

Reference to this initial manufactured ware in East Liverpool reveals that there is but a comparatively short interval intervening before the centennial anniversary of the pottery industry in this city. There is little doubt that this event will make for certain celebration in keeping with its importance. Mrs. Cynthia Bradshaw is a sister of Eugene Bradshaw and an aunt of Harold B. Barth of this city.

IT was on the evening of Jan. 20, 1875, that members of the "Old Band" of East Liverpool gave a dramatic entertainment in school hall. It consisted of a drama, "Horseshoe Robinson" or "The Battle of King's Mountain." It ended with a thrilling afterpiece, entitled "Turn Him Out." Music by the band's orchestra interspersed the entire performance.

Persons in those days visiting the East Liverpool postoffice for their mail observed upon its interior walls a large "Business Chart." It was situated upon the right as entrance was made to the room used for the dispensing of the town's mail at the time. This chart was surmounted by a fine walnut frame and contained the business cards of the merchants then active in its business life. These cards had been artistically lettered by Samuel Carey, Fourth street painter. Upon this thoroughfare he then maintained a shop. He then had been a painter for a quarter of a century. He afterwards added a similar chart for his own shop.

In 1875 the country celebrated the 100th anniversary of the battle of Lexington when the Minute Men of the early Revolutionary period were fired upon by British regulars. Cognizance of this event in American history was taken by the members of the East Liverpool Board of Education who, some of former Mayor Pepin's papers disclosed, indicated their patriotism by having oysters together at Mrs. McGilivray's.

Resolutions of condolences following the passing of Edward Martin, a member, were agreed to by members of Peabody Lodge No. 19, Knights of Pythias, in Castle hall on Tuesday night, Jan. 12, 1875. His end occurred one week previously in his 47th year. The committee which drafted the resolutions of the lodge regarding him consisted of George Marshall, John Bagley and Enoch Bradshaw.

The late Smith Fowler was then engaged in the building of a dwelling which was declared to be about finished in the early part of 1875. There were then no ice plants in the village. Ice was procured for the most part from the Ohio river. Men worked hard to obtain a supply which was placed in ice houses for later use.

M. M. Huston of Pennsylvania avenue who is yet an active business man of East Liverpool was then engaged in merchant tailoring on a large scale. "I employ none but the best workmen and do my own cutting, thus insuring satisfaction," he then announced in the advertising columns of the period.

East Liverpool folks read in those days of the passing of an old Indian chief of the Passamaquoddy tribe at the advanced age of 119 years. He was said to have been a wonderful player at checkers and to have been the same red man who went to a grocery store with a jug and said he wanted a gallon of whiskey to cure a man who had been bitten by a snake. Upon the suggestion that perhaps a gallon of liquor would meet the needs of humanity and science in the case he replied, "No, very big snake."

The Star Pottery works, owned and directed by Bulger, Starkey & company, made Rockingham and yellow ware in East Liverpool in the seventies. Vodrey Brothers were then owners of the Palissy pottery works which manufactured white lines, Rockingham and yellow ware. Messrs Brunt, Bloor, Martin & company, constituted the then Dresden pottery works which made iron-stone china and decorated ware.

The years 1876 during which the nation's centennial was celebrated, was ushered in in East Liverpool by the members of the Independent Cornet band playing lively airs; boys at in with gong and bells and a party of ladies and gentlemen singing merry songs

Perce Marks. The judges who passed upon questions needing decision regarding the spelling of words used were Mrs. J. M. Kelly, William Bagot and Josiah Thompson.

Among those taking part in this notable spelling bee were Pierce Curby, Jethro Manley, William Burford, Thomas Trackery, Y. L. Thompson, Jason Manley, Frederick Smith, J. N. Taylor, J. M. Kelly, W. S. George, S. Hazlett, M. S. Hill, Baltzer Brown, H. Simms, J. Mack, T. Ashbaugh, N. Pearson, Orville Fisher, Rev. E. Brindley and others. Among the women taking part in the spelling of which there were 20 on each side were: Mrs. Colonel William Vodrey, Mrs. N. Frederick, Mrs. Stokely, Mrs. Blythe, and Misses Jennie Gaston, Lavina Johnston, Elizabeth Ralston, Maria West, Allie Laughlin, Jennie Crosscott, Eugenia B. Huston and others.

FINALLY the contest reached the point at a late hour when but four persons of the 40 remained standing and still spelling the words that were being pronounced to them. These were Miss Huston, the school principal of the side of Mr. Marks and Dr. Gardner, C. F. Stokely and J. N. George of Dr. Gardner's side.

The word "coxswain" was given to Miss Huston who spelled it correctly. It was declared to have been wrongly spelled. The word was then given to Captain George, the superintendent of the schools of East Liverpool. He also spelled the word correctly. The word was then given to Dr. Gardner and Mr. Stokely. Having heard the other two spell it correctly and given a verdict of wrong performance they attempted other spelling which seemed as plainly wrong.

Then evidently came an appeal to the judges. But before this could be consummated the audience began to disperse owing to the lateness of the hour. So the contest was left undecided. Naturally there followed considerable discussion of the outcome of the spelling bee. Another was arranged for April 27 of that year at the Presbyterian church.

One of the results of this discussion was the declaration by one of the best young lady spellers of the town that she and three other young ladies could spell down any four young men in East Liverpool. It was stipulated in this declared challenge, it was said, the young ladies agreed, to smoke a stogie cigar, the same to be furnished by the victorious young men, in the presence of the audience.

It was additionally stipulated in this feminine challenge that should the young men be vanquished they should adorn themselves with the hats of their conquerors and, thus garbed, march three times around the room in single file.

It was also declared that spelling bees in many places throughout the country were developing love affairs. It was stated that in a western village some time previous to two rival lovers met at a spelling contest with the understanding that the winner should have the bride.

EAST Liverpool in the seventies had several railway trains passing through it daily. Those going east were the "Accommodation" at 8:30 in the morning; the "Mail" in the afternoon at 1:49 o'clock; the "Local Freight" at 12:30 and the "Express" at 5:43 o'clock. The western bound trains were the "Mail" and the "Local Freight" at 8:35 and 11:07 in the morning and the "Express" and the "Accommodation" trains at 3:24 and 6:30 o'clock each afternoon.

The depot was thus a busy place in those days. It attracted many to it, particularly in the afternoon when four passenger trains went by in different directions. These were days when there was interest in the observing of those arriving and departing by trains.

Tramping then was declared to be a profession with many of those addicted to it passing through the town. The then president of the United States was Ulysses S. Grant, whose father and grandfather were reputed to have lived for an interval in or near what is now East Liverpool.

On April 27, 1875, local readers read of the celebration of his 53rd birthday.

M. M. Huston of Pennsylvania avenue who is yet an active business man of East Liverpool was then engaged in merchant tailoring on a large scale. "I employ none but the best workmen and do my own cutting, thus insuring satisfaction," he then announced in the advertising columns of the period.

SEVEN DISTRICT TEAMS BOOKED FOR TILTS

Midland Cub Outfield Concedes Nothing to Yankee Trio, Could Says

In First Tussle

Salem Doped to Lose To Niles Combine; Potters Favored.

FRIDAY NIGHT
Lisbon at East Liverpool.
Niles at Salem.
SATURDAY.
Alumni at Wellsville.
Midland at Ellwood City.
East Palestine at Sebring.
Leetonia at Louisville.

By ROBERT ELLIOTT,
Sports Editor, The Review.
SCHOLASTIC football enjoys its first major week-end in the East Liverpool section when all but two of the district eleven are booked for action either Friday night or Saturday afternoon. Columbia and Salineville, two county Class B schools are not scheduled to open their seasons until October.

Two frays are booked for Friday night, Lisbon invading East Liverpool for the openers for both clubs, and Niles appearing at Salem. The Potters are favored to upset Phil Bickle's lads, while Floyd Stone's Quakers are on the short end of the odds in the Niles fracas.

Expect Big Crowd.
One of the largest crowds ever to witness an opening game in East Liverpool is expected to be on hand for the Lisbon battle. Predictions on the final score range anywhere from two to four touchdowns, with the former more logical.

Salem failed to exhibit anything sensational in its opener with Leetonia, while the veteran Niles squad is evidently headed toward a successful season. If the Quakers do come through with a victory, it will serve notice on other Columbiana county schools that the Quakers are out for another title.

Probably the most interesting of the four district clashes on Saturday will be the Midland-Ellwood City game at the latter city. "Rusty" Lemond's powerful, undefeated eleven of last year was shot by graduation, but Steel City fans insist that he is ready with another great aggregation.

Ellwood City will furnish the Steelers with an acid test, how- ever. Karis, Monac, Bonedict and Rosatone have been going great guns in the Midland backfield in scrimmages, while the line is plenty big and drives hard.

Seek First Victory.
Wellsville's all-veteran combine looks much too strong for the Alumni at Nicholson field Saturday. East Palestine is after its initial win of the campaign at Sebring, after trying Kent Roosevelt and losing to Alliance. The Brown and White eleven is a slight favorite. Leetonia, whipped twice this season, is booked to play at Louisville, and unless the Stegskal boys pick up, are due for another shattering.

Softball Dope And Results

The Christian church team has split into two camps and will stage a little world series of its own when the Married and Single Men tangle in the first of a three-game series Saturday at 3:30 p. m. at the Water Works. The teams will be picked from the following squads:

Married — Lawrence Applegate, Floyd Beckett, Charles Cobb, Harry Davis, Charles Dorsey, Victor Fowler, Denver Manning, Clarence Moore, Paul Pelley, Chester Reed, Earl Roush, Charles Smith. Players meet at the church at 3.

SEEK GRID GAMES.
The Irwin Scholastics are on the field with a first-class semi-pro football club. Any team wanting a good attraction write or wire W. D. Boyd, manager Irwin Scholastics, in care of the Owl Billiard parlor, Irwin, Pa.

Lisbon Eleven Faced By Hard Schedule, Calling For 11 Games

Bikle Outfit, Equipped With Seven Veterans, Prepares for Clash with East Liverpool Here Friday Night.

This is the seventh of a series dealing with high school football prospects in the East Liverpool district. Columbiana will be discussed Friday and Salineville later.

With a tie game against the Toronto Red Knights already written into the scorebook, Phil Bickle's Lisbon high gridders are drilling hard for their second clash of the season, against East Liverpool here tomorrow night.

Hopes are high in Lisbon for a successful eleven this year, despite the rather ambitious schedule which has been outlined for the county seat aggregation. Bickle has a good many veterans available and his backfield threatens to make plenty of trouble for future opponents.

Health Of Ruth Is Factor

Stephenson Given Edge Over Chapman; Cuyler Slugging.

By ALAN GOULD,
Associated Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Unless Babe Ruth is in much improved health a week hence, the Yankees likely will not show any advantage over the Chicago Cubs insofar as the cleanup lineup of their outfielders are concerned in the forthcoming world series.

It is true the Yankees, on paper, show a heavier punch but this is offset by the fact Ruth has to contend with a bigger "tummy ache" than all the rest of the outfielders combined.

Pick Up Confidence.
If the Babe is not in there next week doing something besides roaring his defiance to the enemy, on wobbly legs, the Cubs may pluck up sufficient courage to chase the Yankees all over Colonel Ruppert's expensive premises in the Bronx, to say nothing of what may happen on the Bruin's home lot.

The only real difference between the two outfield groups is represented by the batting averages of Ruth and Kiki Cuyler. The unofficial season figures are .348 for Ruth and .326 for Cuyler, but that doesn't tell the real story.

Where Ruth has been laid up and lost considerable of his much-needed strength, Cuyler has come down the home stretch like a forest fire. Kiki has been producing the big cleanup wallop when the Bruins needed it. He has been hitting well over .300 for the last six weeks.

Taking these facts into consideration, plus Cuyler's far superior defensive skill and base-running ability, the Cubs figure to concede little or nothing to the American league rivals in the outfield.

The veteran Riggs Stephenson is a much more dangerous consistent hitter than Ben Chapman, the Yankees' left-hander, who will menace the opposition most when he can do his speed stuff on the bases.

Strong Reserves.
The Kentucky Colonel, Earle Combs, has the hitting edge on his centerfield rival, John Francis Moore of the Cubs, but here again speed and defensive ability is a factor in favor of the younger player.

Each club thus far has two world series veterans and one newcomer for the big battle. Chapman and Moore will have their first taste of world series action. In reserve, the Yankees have the long-hitting Sam Byrd and Myril Hoag. The Cubs have Marvin Gudat, a useful portside hitter, and Frank Denaree, youngster brought up late this season from Sacramento.

DAN HOWLEY TO QUIT REDS

By The Associated Press.
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22.—Dan Howley, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, told The Associated Press today he would not be with the club another season.

"I know I won't be with Cincinnati next year," Howley said. "But as to my future, I don't know where I'm going."

Howley refused to discuss a report published in the Cincinnati Enquirer that he was negotiating for an interest in the Toronto Maple Leafs, of the International league, which he once managed.

MILLERS STOP BREWER STREAK

By The Associated Press.

In the only other game played in the Association yesterday Kansas City lost to St. Paul, 1 to 0. The game was called at the end of the sixth on account of rain. Double-headers between Indianapolis and Louisville and Toledo and Columbus were postponed on account of rain.

Polishing Process Started

Ohio College Teams Prepare for Opening Clashes.

By The Associated Press.
The "polishing" process began today in the camps of most of Ohio's collegiate football teams, though many others were still coached in fundamentals.

Squads facing the season's first games this week-end, eased up on scrimmaging and gave a major part of their attention to such things as trick plays, passing, kicking, and strategy.

Coach Joe Meyer at Xavier selected John McCreary, a sophomore, to play right half against Transylvania tomorrow night, and thereby gave the backfield a "triple-threat" man.

Three sophomores also were picked to start for Wittenberg against Indiana Central Normal, Friday night. They are William Claus, quarterback, Alloway, left half, and Luther Hanshue, center. The rest of the team will be veterans.

Ohio Wesleyan is all set for Wilmington, Saturday, except for the selection of end-men. Two sophomores, Floyd Kennan and Ray Harris, are possible choices.

Coach Stuart Holcomb at Findlay faces the Dayton game, Friday night with several good players still benched by injuries.

Ohio University expects to win Saturday from Rio Grande, but is counting on a scrappy battle.

Rapidly rounding into form, Cincinnati also is confident of success against Hanover, Saturday night. Two assistant coaches, Cliff Goldmeyer, Cincinnati, and John Herman, Dayton, have been assigned to the bearcats' freshmen.

Night practice was ordered for the Ashland squad to round out the training for Friday night's game against Cedarville.

The first casualty of the season at Kent State is Quido "Carnera" Iarussa of Ravenna, who suffered a brain concussion in a practice session accident.

Wooster has three players handicapped with strained ankles, and Granville has lost Tom French, promising sophomore back, for an indefinite period with an injured foot.

Pale Sox Used 25 Pitchers

Fonseca Had Plenty Tough Job First Year up.

Among the unsung heroes of the closing baseball campaign is Manager Lew Fonseca of the Chicago White Sox, who have not fared so well as their illustrious neighbors from the other side of town.

Fonseca, in his first full season as pilot of a big league club, not only has been forced to struggle along with a chronic loser, but probably has had the biggest turnover of talent since the game began. Unless he used a card index system, he must have experienced many a difficult moments trying to remember what players were on hand at any given time, for the Sox used 25 pitchers during the campaign.

Two veterans of the Sox staff, Milt Gaston and Paul Gregory, turned in sparkling work yesterday in beating Detroit twice, 11 to 33, and 3 to 1.

Babe Ruth returned to the Yankees' line-up, still slightly wobbly from his illness, but the league champions were given an 8 to 4 drubbing by the Ex-Champion Athletics. Jimmy Foxx hit his 54th home run. The Babe got a single in four trips.

Washington took both ends of a doubleheader from the Boston Red Sox, 1 to 0, and 3 to 2, the first going 10 innings. The double win clinched third place in the American league for the Senators, as Cleveland was dropping a 4 to 3 decision to Walter Stewart of the St. Louis Browns.

The New York Giants defeated the Braves, 2 to 1, in a 10-inning duel.

Pittsburgh sewed up second place by defeating the Champion Cubs, 9 to 6, Paul Waner clouting his 55th double and coming within one of the league record. The Cardinals shut out the Reds, 2 to 0. Brooklyn and the Phillies were idle.

PANTHERS HEAD FOR PITTSBURGH

WINDBER, Pa., Sept. 22. — The University of Pittsburgh football squad pulls training camp stakes today and heads for home to rest prior to their opening fray with Ohio Northern Saturday.

The Panthers heaved a sigh of relief as Coach Jock Sutherland ordered a light signal drill and dummy tackling as the final workout at Camp Hamilton. The team is through scrimmaging.

Foutts To Open On Oct. 11

Fistic Promoter Announces Plans for Indoor Season.

Ray Foutts, manager of Teddy Yarosz, and promoter of fistucluffs in the Pottery City, announced today that the opening indoor show would be held in the Eagles' auditorium Tuesday night, October 11. It is planned to bring K. O. Christner, the Akron heavy, here with a suitable opponent.

Foutts plans to bring in high-class scrappers this winter and run shows only about once a month. This month's issue of the Ring magazine gives Yarosz the highest ranking he has ever received in the welterweight ranks since turning professional. He is placed fifth, ahead of Jimmy McLarnin, the Vancouver bomber. Ahead of Teddy are Jackie Fields, the champ, Young Corbett, Lou Brouillard and Johnny Indrisano.

Yarosz is in great demand, Foutts says. He has received a wire from New Orleans where Ted is wanted for a main bout with Eddie Kid Wolfe, rated among the first 10. Cleveland wants him as does Motor Square Garden in Pittsburgh. Foutts says he may take the New Orleans offer if the ante is raised a little.

Ted is likely to scrap in Pittsburgh, October 3, and the dope has him appearing in Madison Square Garden, the "happy hunting ground" of all fighters, within the next month.

Foutts has taken over General Burrows, Aliquippa Negro welterweight, who won 41 of 43 starts as an amateur. Foutts has had him in three pro engagements, the General winning all of them with ease. In his last start he trimmed Hans Roberts.

More than 4,000 golfers were estimated to have invaded golf courses in Kansas City over the Labor day holiday.

SYNOPSIS: Nan Weare stumbles into knowledge of a plot between Robert Leonard and a taxi driver to run down an unnamed person she is sure is her husband, Jervis Weare. She also believes it was Leonard who attempted Jervis's life ten years before, when she saved him. Since the day of the rescue she has loved Jervis deeply, but he has married her only as a means of saving for himself the fortune which Rosamund Carey, his former fiancée, tried to secure for herself by jilting Jervis. The departure of Nan's sister Cynthia, with her husband, for Australia makes Nan bitterly lonely.

Chapter 8
ENTER "F. F."

NAN did not know that she was going to run, but she found herself running breathlessly, blindly on. When at last she stopped running, she had no breath in her and she was shaking from head to foot. She had turned a corner and was in a street she did not know.

She stood still—not thinking—getting back her breath. Then she began to walk again mechanically, her mind pulled this way and that by her clamorous thoughts. She set to work to quiet these thoughts, to make them speak reasonably. It was very difficult, because, instead of being calm and judicial, she was quivering with fear not for herself, but for Jervis.

Robert Leonard had come out of the house. He had spoken to the driver of the taxi. She tried to put together what he had said.

The more Nan thought, the more an anguished fear took hold of her. For ten years she had believed that Robert Leonard had struck down Jervis Weare and left him to drown on Croyston rocks. Now she believed that there was to be another attempt upon his life. Robert Leonard had said, "He is sure to walk—he is crazy for exercise." She was quite sure that the "he" was Jervis. The driver was to "drive dangerously." If "he" took a taxi, he was to do the best he could. He was to risk prison, and he was to earn twenty-five hundred dollars.

An accident. The word sprang into her mind. It seemed to make a loud noise there. Nan felt as if some one had fired a gun close to her ear. The word deafened her. An accident—to Jervis. That was what they had been planning. As the noise of the word died down, she found herself walking quickly and thinking clearly. The train got in at four-fifteen. She must meet Jervis and tell him what she had heard. She looked at her watch. It was five minutes to four. If Jervis was coming up from Weare she could catch him at the Twenty-third street ferry. Of course he might be coming from anywhere else.

She reached the ferry with two minutes to spare. She wasn't frightened any more. She would see Jervis, and everything would be all right.

He came striding up. Nan ran after him, let him clear the crowd, and touched his arm. He turned, started, took of his hat. The ferry house became a place where anything might happen. It had the true atmosphere of romantic adventure. Nan was so inspired by it that a dimple came out on either side of her smile as she said.

"You didn't expect to see me?" "Did you expect to see me?" he asked.

Nan nodded. "I came to meet you."

"Did Page tell you I was coming up?"

She shook her head. "Nobody told me."

"Then how did you know?" said Jervis Weare. Nan saw the dark color rise in his face, and wondered what had brought it there. Her dimples trembled away. She said quickly.

"I'll tell you how I know. I've got things to tell you—important things."

They were standing still, with a stream of people flowing past them. A fat man swung a bag of golf clubs within half an inch of Nan's ear, and as she ducked and Eruption on Child Caused Loss of Sleep. Healed by Cuticura.

"My son had a small breaking out on the left side of his face. It was in a rash and started spreading till it got down to the point of his chin. By that time it formed a sore eruption. It itched some, causing him to lose sleep at times."
"I used other remedies but they did no good. He had the trouble about six weeks when I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In about two weeks it started to dry up and in a month he was completely healed."

FRANKLY, I HAVEN'T THE MONEY TO EXPERIMENT these days, and that goes for gas and oil, too.

Our car shows its age pretty badly, but it still has a lot of good miles in it—HAS to have, because my wife and I can't afford another one now.

Last week I had an expert mechanic put the brakes in shape so we won't smash into anything. And instead of shopping around and experimenting, we stop at the old familiar SOHIO sign every time for gas and oil. STANDARD OIL of OHIO hasn't failed anybody yet that I know of, and they've been doing business now for a long, long time.

It looks now as if "Old Betsy" will hold out fine until better times—at least we're keeping her on a choice diet.

One Ohio Hunter Bags Squirrels With Slingshot; Another Fools 'em

Dr. G. L. Mallet and W. Howard Cox, Both of Cincinnati, Tell How.

By The Associated Press. CINCINNATI, Sept. 22.—If you think squirrels are hard to bag with a rifle, give a thought to Dr. G. L. Mallet of Cincinnati.

He goes out and gets them with a slingshot. Yes sir, the same sort of slingshot as that with which you used to pop the sparrows in the eaves and the chickens in the farm yard. And the slingshotting doctor doesn't have a distance handicap to bring them down. He has killed squirrels at 90 feet.

Dr. Mallet has used the same slingshot prong for 28 years. He made it himself. Of course, he has to buy new rubber bands every year.

LIVED ON FIVE CENTS PER DAY

EAST LIVERPOOL, O.—To exist on food costing only five cents per day seems impossible, and yet lots of people are doing it. One woman says she lived on a diet of oatmeal and milk for two months, which cost a fraction less than five cents per day. This slender diet was forced upon her, not because of lack of funds, but because she had a severe case of stomach trouble from which only Arvo Malt Tonic relieved her. Thousands of people have been relieved by this medicine after all else had failed to help. Arvo Malt Tonic is guaranteed to help you—your money back if it fails. It is pleasant to take and inexpensive. You run no risk in trying Arvo.

Alex Gourley, kiln hand, 191 Leonard street, East Liverpool, says, "I don't know what was the cause of my trouble but I just felt 'all in'—didn't have any vitality. My legs felt heavy as lead and I could hardly drag one foot after the other. My sleep was poor and my appetite not good. I was discouraged because I had taken so many medicines that didn't help me. Arvo Malt Tonic was recommended and so I tried it. It was just what I needed. I have plenty of vitality now and all of that tired draggy feeling has left me. I have a good appetite and sleep soundly."

Go today to Mathews Cut Rate Drug Store, 131 West Sixth street, or to any other well stocked drug store and ask for a bottle of Arvo Malt Tonic. You'll be delighted.—Adv.
